

Responding to Europe's migration, asylum seeker and refugee crisis as individual Christians and Christian communities

This SACEP training event has two interrelated purposes:

1. To examine together the nature, scope and scale of the European migration, asylum seeker and refugee crisis, and its spiritual, ethical, social and political implications
2. To share experience of Christians, Churches and other Christian communities in responding to the crisis

The seminar will be facilitated by Chris Talbot who is a global leader in the field of education in emergencies, protracted crises and post-conflict reconstruction.
