What is a Death Café?

A Death Café offers a brave, friendly space to reflect on and talk about death, dying and our mortality. Facing our finitude together often helps us live more intentionally, consciously and fully.

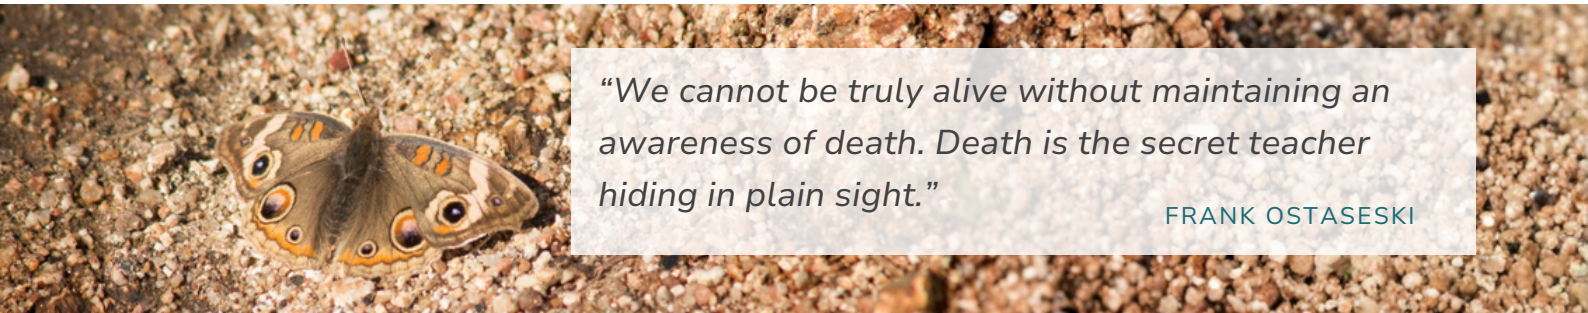

The evening is loosely facilitated as a group conversation, with time for more informal exchanges over an apéro.

Please note: the Death Café is not a grief support or counselling session.

HOSTED BY

Emma Pearson

Death Café host and facilitator. Emma works with individuals, teams and communities at the meeting point of grief, transition and regeneration - holding space for the conversations we tend to avoid, so that we can live and lead more fully.

"We cannot be truly alive without maintaining an awareness of death. Death is the secret teacher hiding in plain sight."
